

February, 2010

Dear Earth Day Festival Friend,

The Earth Day Festival is coming! This year's theme is "Be a Breath of Fresh Air in Your Community."

All organizations, schools, teachers, crafters, businesses and individuals doing environmental activities, projects or business operations are encouraged to share with the community as we mark Stockton's 22nd Earth Day Festival, Sunday, April 18, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Victory Park, behind the Haggin Museum (Pershing at Argonne).

The Festival is a partnership between the City of Stockton's Solid Waste & Recycling Division and the Water Conservation Program, the Peace & Justice Network, the University of the Pacific, San Joaquin County Public Works/Stormwater Management Program, and the San Joaquin County Office of Education. The Festival continues to draw a larger and more diverse crowd each year, and provides an enjoyable way for the community to learn more about protecting our environment and natural resources.

The vendor/exhibitor application is attached and is required for all educational information displays, crafts to sell, school programs to demonstrate, non-profit booths, etc. The deadline to submit a vendor application is Thursday, April 1, 2010. Return a completed application (with your fee) to reserve your booth.

Business sponsor/Food booths	$100
For-profit info booth	$50
Not-for profit booth	$25
School or class display/activity	Free

For more information as a vendor/exhibitor, or more, please contact Susan Mora Loyko, Asst. Solid Waste Manager, City of Stockton, stocktonearthday@gmail.com or call 937-8389.

We're looking forward to another wonderful Earth Day Festival. Hope to see you there!
